Message from the Head of School

Ambrosoli is always a busy school. In addition to the learning taking place every day both in and outside of the classroom, the children are given many opportunities to extend their knowledge and skills through a wide variety of activities. We are exceptionally busy at the moment. A number of school trips, to enhance the children's learning, have taken or will take place in the few weeks before the end of term. Our Session 2 clubs will begin on December 3rd, mostly led by teachers and assistants. KS2 are very busy preparing for their annual production which is on 4th/5th December. We have the Tournament of Minds competition coming up, we are collecting shoebox gifts for children at the hospice and at CoRSU, our children and staff choirs are preparing songs for the Christmas fair, some of our teachers and assistants are taking exams, the school council will have a thank you party, the upcoming 'hour of code' week is keeping the computing department busy. I'm sure I have left lots of end of term events out!

Teachers are fulfilling their 'normal' classroom routines diligently and with passion, they are also writing reports, being appraised, planning lessons, doing playground duties, marking, attending meetings, leading professional development....the list is endless. All without complaint.

I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to all of the staff at Ambrosoli. For your professionalism, loyalty, good humour, care for the children, time for the parents and for remaining positive and cheerful even though we are coming towards the end of a long and busy term.

Our administrative and support staff help to keep us sane, keep us organised, keep us clean and tidy and although much of their work is 'behind the scenes' we appreciate them enormously.

Thank you. You are all stars!

(PS. I'll buy you doughnuts for break time next week :-)
